

Akram Khan has served 20 years in the Mission Field as a Treasurer for Cambodia, Egypt, and North Sudan for the Seventh-day Adventist Church and Executive Secretary for Egypt Sudan. He started his career working in the private company called Nestle Milk Pak as a finance controller and soon after was called to serve at Pakistan Adventist Seminary as an accountant. He was encouraged by his dad to work for the church, not for the private sector. He completed his MBA in Management and Accountancy from Adventist International Institute of Studies, in the Philippines. He enjoyed working in different cultures and with different people.

Currently he is working as the Business Manager for Center for Youth Evangelism. He is married to a beautiful woman, Alia Khan. God has blessed them with two kids. His son Avak Khan is studying at Andrews University and his daughter Arabella Khan, who is now ten, studies at Village Adventist Elementary School in Berrien Springs.

He loves to play rocket ball, squash, and badminton with his son during free time. He likes to go on road trips and riding dirt bikes. He praises God for keeping them together as a family. He is looking forward to the 2024 BTP Camporee at the 2nd coming of Jesus Christ.
