

Lindsay Syeh serves as the Director of Young Adults, and Adventist Christian Fellowship at Southeastern Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. During her ministry at Southeastern Conference, Pastor @lindsaysyeh has had the privilege of trailblazing in her role as pastor, chaplain, and departmental leader. She has served as an Associate, Senior and Assistant Pastor, as well as an Academy and University Chaplain.

She's a graduate of Oakwood University, Andrews University Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary with a Master in Divinity, and has a Master of Science in Counseling with an emphasis in Clinical Mental Health Counseling. Presently, she is pursuing a PhD in Counseling with an emphasis in Marriage, Family and Couples Therapy. Her current research interests are religious trauma, religious abuse, church hurt, resilience, burnout, studying the effects of compassion fatigue amongst Black Indigenous People of Color BIPOC faith leaders and mental health providers.

Pastor Lindsay is a life-long pathfinder and Master Guide. She credits her introduction and love for cooking to her time spent in the Pathfinder club. Additionally, she's also an athlete and an avid sports lover. She's played tennis, flag football, softball, distance running, basketball, and more. Her greatest joy is playing team sports and chatting about sports with friends and family.

Her favorite text is Psalm 51:10 - "Create in me a pure heart, O God, and renew in me a right spirit." Her ultimate desire is to be broken daily, so the Holy Spirit can fill her up.
